GOOD NEWS FOR ICE HOCKEY FANS!

You and your immediate family are invited to attend an ice hockey exhibition plus a regularly scheduled National Hockey League game between the Chicago Black Hawks and the Washington Capitals on Tuesday, February 25, at Capital Centre.

Proceeds from the game will go to support the U.S. Deaf Olympics. Senator Edward Kennedy is recruiting and sponsoring a deaf hockey team to compete in an exhibition game against the Washington Chiefs. Gallaudet students as well as other U.S. and Canadian student hockey players will participate.

As a member of the Gallaudet College community, this exciting sports event -- both the exhibition and NHL games -- will only cost you $3.25. Seats to the Chiefs/Hawks game are $6.50 alone!

Game time is 7 p.m. For tickets, see Anita Polk in room 153 of Hall Memorial Building.

Come out to Congressional Night at Capital Centre and help support your Deaf Olympic team.

AMONG OURSELVES

--Philip Schmitt participated and served as study-group chairman at an invitational conference sponsored by the Council on Education of the Deaf on evaluation of teacher preparation programs. The conference was held in Tucson, Ariz., from February 2-5.

--Olive Tiller is participating in a conference in Vientiane, Laos, from February 22-25. Sponsored by the Fund for Reconstruction and Reconciliation in Indochina, the conference will bring together an international team of sixty persons to confer with representatives of various political groups in Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam.

--Harry Bornstein and Clarence Williams recently attended a three-day workshop conference to identify research needs and priorities in the early childhood education of the handicapped. The conference was held last week in Princeton, N.J.

CAPTIONED EMERGENCY TV ANNOUNCEMENTS

As we reported several weeks ago in ON THE GREEN, several organizations have filed a petition with the Federal Communications Commission which would require all television stations to caption emergency announcements for deaf viewers.

Your support of this petition is needed. Please send a letter or postcard to:

Office of the Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
1919 M Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20554

Although you may say as much as you wish, the following language is sufficient: "I urge the Federal Communications Commission to adopt the rule for Visual Emergency TV notifications, RM - 2502, Part 73." Please sign and date your letter.

Your letter should be sent no later than Monday, February 24.

"BREAKING THE SOUND/SIGHT BARRIER"

The Office of Public Service Programs is sponsoring a special program at Gallaudet for area deaf-blind children. Approximately 50 children are expected to attend "Breaking the Sound and Sight Barrier" on February 26.

Gallaudet students are actively involved in the event. They will tour the children around the campus, have lunch with them and plan games and activities. Optional activities for teachers and teacher aides accompanying their students will also be planned.

The primary purpose of the program is to give Gallaudet students insight into the nature of deaf-blind children's needs through direct contact and stimulate their interest in working in the field.

AROUND AND ABOUT

--The Inner Circle Theatre on Pennsylvania Avenue is running a French film series from now through March 25. Representing 32 of the best French films produced in the past ten years, all are subtitled. Check your newspaper for daily attractions and show times.

--The first Lions Club for deaf members on the west coast, and only the sixth such club in the world, was recently chartered in Portland, Ore. A seventh such club is being formed in Dunmore, Pa., on March 15, with Harold Domich as the main speaker.

--Members of the Psychology Club and other psychology students took a field trip on February 4, to the National Bureau of Standards where they saw demonstrations on the effects of noise on human performance, the safe design of household products and fire retardant fabrics for clothing and furniture.

--Sociology students will also be making a field trip. Morris Goldman and his principals of sociology class will be going to the NBC studio on Saturday to see how a TV program is produced.

--We have recently had some interesting foreign visitors with us: Casimir Bronislav Diehl from Poland, Hideo Imai from Japan, Kerim Altinkaynak from Turkey and Francesco Rubino from Italy.

SOS....SOS....SOS....SOS....SOS...

The Placement Office is desperately trying to find part-time and summer jobs for Gallaudet students. If you know of any positions, please contact Elaine Meade in the Placement Office as soon as possible.
